Governor's Trip to Cuba.

The official schedule for the trip to Cuba to be taken by Governor Durbin and staff was announced yesterday. The party, after leaving Havana, will go to the Charleston exposition. As yet it has not been settled when Indiana day will be observed at the exposition. During the trip Governor Durbin's staff will be in full uniform. Mrs. Durbin will accompany the Governor, and the wives of several members of the party will also go. The party will leave this city on the afternoon of Feb. 14, and will be absent sixteen days. Four days will be spent in Hayana. Two days will be occupied in looking over Charleston. The itinerary of the trip was published in the Journal a few days ago.

K. of P. Supreme Tribunal.

The Supreme Tribunal of the Knights of Pythlas closed its session in this city yesterday. Members of the tribunal declined to discuss the rumor that they had investigated complaints against W. D. Kennedy, clerk of the tribunal and editor of the Pythian Tribune. James De La Mar, of New York, a member of the tribunal, denied the report. The rumor related to matters dating back to the Knights of Pythias national conclave in this city.

oon from 3 to 6 for her sister, Mrs. Henry | Contradictory Evidence in a Divorce Trial-Result of Bridge Collapse-Court Cases.

The wrath of Judge Leathers was aroused yesterday during the hearing of a divorce case in Superior Court, Room 2. The case, that of Lulu V. Baase against John F. Baase, furnished details unusually unsavory, and both the plaintiff and the defendant vied with each other in charges and counter charges of infidelity and unfaithfulsity Club. Pink roses decorated the long ness. Baase claimed that on one occasion table at which the guests were seated. Mrs. he heard that his wife contemplated a trip to a resort at Brighton Beach with anwhom Mrs. Cleland entertained were Miss other man, and that in the guise of a hack Sarah Cook, of Troy, N. Y.; Miss Elizabeth driver he presented himself to take the couple there.

After they had reached the resort, Baase said, he threw aside his disguise, includeon yesterday, entertaining sixty guests ing a heavy black beard, and confronted his wife and her companion. A scene folpreferred by the husband were of a nature absolutely unprintable. On her part Mrs. Baase denied everything charged against Mrs. S. E. Morss, and Miss Marian Graham, her and swore to the falsity of Baase's allegations. Judge Leathers listened carefully and was convinced that on one side or the other there existed a case of rank perjury. He refused to settle the case, but gave the stenographer orders to take the names of all the witnesses in the case and to prepare a transcript of the evidence preparatory to taking the matter before the grand jury. "I consider the evidence of perjury too serious to be overlooked,' said the judge.

BRIDGE COLLAPSE ECHO.

William Downing the First to Lie

City and Street-Car Company. The first of the series of suits which, it is stated, will be instituted against the bridge over White river when several peo- costs. ple were injured was filed yesterday by William Downing, who, at the time of the accident, was an employe of the street-car company. In the brief prepared by his attorneys he alleges that the timbers in the structure were rotten and decayed; that the iron work was rusty and rotten; that the braces were broken and capable of furnishing no support and that the abutments and piers were shaky and out of repair. He holds that the city and the street-railway company were fully aware of the dangerous condition of the bridge, and consequently that the injuries he received were due entirely to the carelessness and negligence of the defendants in the He himself, he says, acting as an employe of the company at the time, was not in a position to know that he was running into danger when he started to cross the bridge on a car of the company. He enumerates the injuries he received and declares that they are permanent in nature.

ROSS DIVORCE CASE.

Testimony About the Capacity of a Woman for Cocktails.

The divorce case of Georgia Ross against James Ross, who, it is said, is the proprietor of one of the biggest policy shops in the city, was again up in Judge Carter's court yesterday afternoon. Ross himself was on the stand for the greater part of the time answering the interrogations of Attorney Groninger. He admitted that on one occasion his anger against his wife arose to such a pitch that he threw a beefsteak at her, without, he claims, doing her any injury. The question was asked him whether his wife drank, and he replied that she did What is her capacity in Manhattan cock-

In the injunction suit of the Indiana Natural Gas and Oil Company against Edward B. Ball, the Matthews Land Company, George N. Catterson and others the attorneys who are retained by the plaintiff and the defendants continued their arguments yesterday morning on the question of the jurisdiction of the Marion county courts in the case before Judge Carter. The argument was concluded at noon and Judge Carter took the matter under advisement.

Marriage of a Teacher.

Jessie Mildred Heck's Suit.

Jessie Mildred Heck, who wants a divorce from Archie Austin Heck, declares that for eighteen months before she separated from him he forced her to work in a restaurant and support him, their child and herself. They were married in November, 1889, she says, and separated in May. 1899. She asks the court to grant her the custody of the one child, Ada Lucile, and to grant her all proper relief.

HOTEL LOBBY GLEANINGS

W. G. HAMILTON, A NEW MEXICO RANCHMAN, IN TOWN.

He Is Taking His First Vacation in Seventeen Years-Henry County Citizens-Hotel Visitors.

A tall, stanchly-built young man with a smooth-shaven face and wearing a lightcolored winter suit of fashionable cut lounged about the office of the Hotel English yesterday afternoon. He looked as if he might be a well-to-do New York broker or a clubman who had nothing more to do than amuse himself. Upstairs in the young man's room the half dozen pairs of faultlessly creased trousers would serve to dissipate the idea that the owner had spent the last dozen years of his life taking care of a sheep ranch in New Mexico in the midst of the Pecca valley. The young man was W. G. Hamilton, and he is now taking the first vacation he has had in seventeen years. "In all this time," he remarked yestrator, vs. Nancy J. Mr. Ham-$20 into court in sixty days for plaintiff's | the neighborhood of Roswell, New Mexico, where he and three partners-wealthy Eastern men-owned what might be called a 'country place' of 360 acres. On this land they raised the alfalfa and corn and fed lambs. On the mountain ranges, on the government land, they grazed in the neigh-borhood of 5,000 head of sheep. Mr. Hamilton, in giving an illustration of the value of land in the Pecos valley, says they recently sold their "country place" for $50,000. Mr Hamilton is an intimate acquaintance of Captain John W. Poe and Pat Garrett, the men who ended the career of "Billy the Kid," the noted highwayman who used to operate in New Mexico. Captain Poe is a banker at Roswell and Pat Garrett is collector of customs at El Paso, Tex. At the time of the killing of the highwayman Garrett was sheriff of Lincoln county, New Mexico. Poe was his deputy. "Billy the Kid" was under sentence of death in the Lincoln county jail, but escaped after kill-Affirmed. Dowling, J.-1. In a proceeding ing the guard and the jailer. He was pur sued by Garrett and Poe and was run down some time after his escape. According to Mr. Hamilton's narrative, the officers shrewdly guessed that the highwayman would visit his Mexican sweetheart at Puerto da Luna, New Mexico, and they went there one night. Garrett went into the house and Poe remained on guard outside. While Garrett was talking with the father of the girl and was being assured that the man they were hunting had not been there the highwayman, who had been out to the corral, started to enter the house. As he came through the door Garrett shot him without a word of warning, knowing that he must shoot quick if at all, for the unerring aim of the outlaw was well known in New Mexico. Mr. Hamilton says it has been reported that "Billy the Kid" killed twenty-three men before he was twenty-Mr. Hamilton says that, aside from missing the theater, people who go to the Territory from the States find plenty of social enjoyment. The dress suit is always in demand in New Mexico. In the town of Roswell there is a flourishing club, and many of the ranchmen are fond of social pastime. Parties and balls are no uncommon events.

HORSES FOR KING'S STABLES. Mr. W. J. Loaring-Clark Will Buy at the Local Market.

"I'm endeavoring to secure a few horses to put in the King's stables at Buckingham Palace," remarked Mr. W. J. Loaring-Clark at the Spencer House last night. Mr. Loaring-Clark is engaged in importing American horses to England, and has a stable at Hendon, a suburb of London. "Some of the finest horses driven in the streets of London come from America," he said. He deals largely in 'bus horses, but occasionally picks up some fancy ones for carriage driving. He buys chiefly from the Chicago and St. Louis markets, but he has decided to try the Indianapolis market and will establish an agency here. Mr. Loaring-Clark spent some time yesterday at the Union Stockyards. He is on the lookout, he says, for some good horses for the King's stables, and since a great many of the best horses driven in England are taken there from America he hopes to secure something in this country that will please assess a fine of $500 and imprisonment of 3543. All of those at the table are financially interested in the new road, which is to be an electric line It is to be built from New Castle to Pendleton, a distance of twenty miles, and will there connect with the Union Traction Company's line. The company has secured a private right of way through Henry and Madison counties. It is announced the road will be built this year if the company is able to procure the rails. The United States Steel Corporation has declared that it has already sold all the rails it can make this year, and unless the Henry county company can buy rails of outside mills it will probably be delayed in constructing the
